

Climate Resilient Gender Sensitive Assessment Tool (CREGSAT)

By Against All Odds Foundation (AGAOF)

Strengthening institutions. Empowering communities. Building a resilient future.

Climate change and insecurity are reshaping lives across Northeast Nigeria, and women, girls, youth, and Persons With Disabilities (PWD) face the greatest risks. To close this gap, AGAOF, with support from WPHF and UN Women, has developed the Climate-Resilient and Gender-Sensitive Assessment and M & E Toolkit.

This pioneering guide provides organizations with the tools to embed climate resilience and gender equality throughout their operations, including assessment, program development, implementation, monitoring, and ongoing evaluation. Developed through comprehensive needs assessments, stakeholder engagement, and a technical workshop, it draws upon real community insights and aligns with international best practices.

What's Inside This Tool:

- A five-pillar assessment framework
- Practical templates, scoring tools, and evidence requirements
- A full M&E framework with climate-gender indicators
- Guidance on community engagement and ethical field practices
- An implementation roadmap for policy, capacity building, partnerships, and resource mobilization

Why This Tool Matters:

Climate change is not gender-neutral. This toolkit helps organizations identify who is most at risk and design inclusive, equitable, and resilient interventions. It strengthens institutional capacity, improves program quality, and enhances accountability.

Who Should Use This Tool:

This Tool is ideal for:

- NGOs, CSOs, CBOs
- Government ministries and agencies
- UN agencies and development partners
- Program managers, M&E teams, field staff, and volunteers
- Private Sector, Researchers and climate-gender practitioners

Using this toolkit enables institutions to deliver programs that reflect community realities, advance gender equality, and support sustainable peace and resilience across Northeast Nigeria.
